Shopping Center Work Begins Here

Construction is underway for the Uptown & Country shopping center at the southwest corner of Foothill Blvd. and Euclid Ave. in Upland.

When completed shortly after the first of the year, the center will contain a Vons Supermarket, a Sav-On Drug Store and approximately 12 specialty shops. Already on the site is a branch of the Security Pacific National Bank.

Eight other specialty shops are to be added later in 1974. The design calls for exterior walls of padre-brown color and tile roofs in a copper green shade. There will be heavy use of stained woods in various shades of brown in the patio areas. Store fronts will be dark wood or bronze.

Parking for 487 cars and extensive landscaping is planned throughout. Developers are Vons Grocery Co., Sav-On Drugs and Century Southwest Corp.

Ontario 500 To Sponsor Fashion Show

The Ontario "500" Festival Association will sponsor a "Racing Into Fashions" fashion show Aug. 30 at Ontario Motor Speedway. Proceeds from the fashion show and buffet will go to the West End Boy's Club. Jill Ritchie is show chairman of the event during the Festival Week prior to the California 500 race at OMS on Sept. 2. Show tickets are available by calling 984-2453.

Mrs. Madeline Cappitelli, secretary of the Boys Club, announced that three finalists in the national "Boy of the Year" contest sponsored by the Boy's Clubs of America are members of the West End Boy's Club. They include Alex Rivera, 16, Danny Montecino, 15, and Ronald Gonzales, 16.

Mrs. Cappitelli also reported that Joseph Parker, executive director of the West End Boy's Club, left Upland in April and a new branch director is expected to take over in the fall.

Mountain Ave. Residential Development Under Study

During the last meeting of the Upland Planning Commission the Planning Director, Rod Anderson, was directed to confer with Charles Stapleton of Lampman and Associates, the city's planning consultant, on a study of future development along the northerly portion of Mountain Ave.

Stapleton proposed the study of future residential densities along Mountain Ave. The commission indicated it wanted to know more about what the study would cost and how it would be conducted before giving its final approval. Anderson is to give a report to the commission on Aug. 23. The public hearing on the general plan amendment regarding future development on Mountain Ave. was continued until next month, when it may be extended again.

In January a two-part recommendation concerning the future of Mountain Ave. was submitted to the Upland City Council by Roger Sherwood, chairman of the Mayor's Advisory Committee. The Committee's recommendation, which was accepted by the Council as merely a "progress report" pending a study by Stapleton included:

--The General Plan remain the same as it relates to the West side of Mountain Ave. from 13th St. north to the city limits except that the southwest corner of 16th Street and Mountain Ave. be designated as R-3-3600 and the Regional Shopping Center designation be restored at the intersection of Mountain Ave. and the Foothill Freeway.

--The General Plan remain as is on the East side of Mountain Ave. from 13th St. north to 16th St. except that the southeast

SIGN OF THE TIMES -- Uplanders can't miss the new sign that graces the corner of Euclid Ave. and Arrow Highway these days. Demolition work is scheduled to begin the first of September to clear the way for the new Civic Center building project.

Commission Works To Avoid 'Cluttered City'

Upland is not going to be a "cluttered city" if the city's Architectural Commission has anything to say about it.

"Look at the difference between Foothill Blvd. in Upland and Holt Blvd. in Ontario--Foothill isn't nearly so lit up with neon lights," said Tom Harris, chairman of the Architectural Commission.

Harris explained that about five years ago the Commission adopted a sign ordinance which strictly regulates the kinds and sizes of exterior signs which may be used to identify businesses. "Storefront windows weren't considered when these sign control ordinances were passed," Harris remarked. As a result, many store fronts have presented unsightly appearances due to clutter of signs placed in their storefront windows.

The second in a series of meetings on the interior sign problem was held at the Upland Chamber of Commerce last week. Harris said the Commission is attempting to meet with various segments of the business community and iron out problems so that it's not necessary to write an additional ordinance controlling interior signing.

Due to vacations there was a scanty turn out of grocery store managers and one service station manager last week. Another discussion meeting was scheduled with service station managers for Wednesday, Sept. 19 at 7:00 p.m. at the Upland Chamber of Commerce offices.

Robert Sullivan, the city's chief building official, singled out the large banner window signs in markets which are permanent and nearly fill the front windows. Most all present at the meeting agreed on the unattractiveness of signs which entirely cover storefront windows. Harris suggested perhaps a "reader panel" could be installed in which advertisements are organized in a specified location and don't clutter entire windows.

Some grocery store managers said they'd already made attempts to hold down and organize window ads. One participant suggested studying how Claremont regulates such advertising by yearly permits.

Both Sullivan and Harris stated that the city was trying to get cooperation and take the soft approach rather than rigidly policing the problem in a legal way.

The point was brought out that small businesses which can't afford newspaper advertising particularly rely on storefront ads.

SB County's Rent Subsidy Program Picking Up Speed

A federal rent subsidy program being tried in San Bernardino County is starting to pick up speed.

Officials had hoped to enroll 900 families by June 22. When that number of families failed to register, however, the deadline was extended.

At present, the program--titled Experimental Housing Allowance Program (EHAP)--has 1,400 eligible applications on file, 260 enrolled in the program, and about 70 actually receiving rent subsidies.

"Of the 1,400 families we can select 600," said Mrs. Ann Siracusa, project director. "These will be invited to come in where they are told about the program. They then have two weeks to decide if they want to participate."

Those 260 families now enrolled in the program are receiving training prior to being allocated the subsidies, she added. The training includes slides and discussions on such topics as selection of a location, how to select a dwelling, different alternatives to consider in selecting a rental, tenant-landlord relations, and how to negotiate a lease.

"Some families have never selected a rental unit. They were restricted on where they could live because of the lack of funds," she explained.

Once a family completes the training, it must then locate and negotiate a lease for a rental unit before it can receive the federal subsidy.

"This should not take more than several weeks," said Mrs. Siracusa.

Officials had projected 6,000 applications in the county from an eligible 52,000 families. The 52,000 families, however, included 29,000 families classified as homeowners. This leaves 24,000 renter families who could qualify.

"We don't expect much response from those families who own their homes since this would involve them in selling the homes, then finding a place to rent," she said.

To get a cross-section of the eligible applicants, the program was divided into four age groups.

"We are still low on the senior citizens," she reported. "We had projected 38 percent of the applicant families being 65 years old and older. At present, we don't have more than 21 percent."

This may have resulted from the families, which include only one or two members, receiving such a small amount. Many of these families may also be opposed to having to move to quality, noted the director.

Applications may be submitted in person between 1 and 5 p.m. at these locations: Chino Contact Station, 5212 D St. (Wednesday and Friday only); Upland Housing Authority, 1248 N. Campus Ave., Ontario branch office, 1014 W. 4th St., and Cucamonga Contact Station, 10155 24th St.

Selections are made by a computer on a random basis, no special consideration is given to families in greater need or who apply first.

Civic Center Plans Approved By Council

By PATRICIA REID
Of The News Staff

James Christian, former Mayor of Upland, congratulated the Upland City Council Monday for finally "coming to a unanimous approval of City Hall plans."

Councilman Harold "Hal" Bailin quickly noted, "We're only unanimous on the design." Following a detailed description of the preliminary design plans for Phase II of the Upland Civic Center project by City Manager Elwin "Pinky" Alder, the Council authorized the architect's firm of Edward Durrell Stone to proceed with final plans. Robert Sullivan, the city's chief building official, explained that the new City Hall would have adequate restroom facilities and John Adams from the Stone firm mentioned the usefulness of drapery which will completely enclose the proposed new Council Chambers. Alder reported that the city's Architectural Commission reviewed the plans on Aug. 16 and recommended five points in connection with their approval.

The Council unanimously agreed to award Laird Construction Company of Claremont the bid for $11,500 for the demolition of all city-owned buildings on the new City Hall site.

After considerable discussion the Council voted 3-2 (with Mayor Abner B. Haldeman and Councilman George Gibson dissenting) to reverse a previous action taken during budget sessions granting the Upland Homeowners Association $1,000 as part of the city's annual contribution to non-profit civic organizations. (The Council stipulated the organization must submit a budget for approval before the $1,000 would be granted.)

Norman Day, president of the association, presented the group's "revised" budget to the council. The only item listed on the budget concerned costs of folding, stapling, bundling and processing a newsletter for every home in Upland.

Bailin, who originally opposed the request, said: "I'm opposed to using taxpayers' money for a newsletter to distribute a certain political group's point of view." Councilman A. M. "Max" Hawkins agreed with Bailin that this newsletter was "a complete incorrect use of public funds."

Gibson said other organizations are funded in the city which promote their own self interest and political interest. Councilman John McCarthy, who went along at first with granting the $1,000, said he now "has a lot of qualms on how a newsletter could or should be used. It could be useful to residents if it were factual, however it could try to brainwash the community," he said.

Mrs. Ina Petokas, membership chairman of the Homeowners Association, defended the newsletter and claimed it definitely would not be used for any political purposes or to endorse any political candidates.

City attorney Donald Maroney stated the Council must decide whether the organization does or does not promote the interest of the city. Day, of the association, later read a prepared statement reaffirming the fact that the organization was not political and that he did not intend to be a Council candidate.

Maroney reported that the Superior Court in San Bernardino reached a decision on the Flint-kote hot-mix asphalt plant. "The court indicated the city's transfer of ownership restrictions were too tight and that ownership should automatically transfer with land parcels." He explained that the controversial matter had to be decided in the courts because the city had an Ordinance against transferring Conditional Use Permits to different names. The issue is now in the hands of the city's building department for checks.

Council moved to postpone the first reading of an ordinance to raise animal control shelter fees until the second meeting in September when a public hearing will be held concerning increased bicycle licensing rates. (The proposed animal control increases are: $3 for pickup on an animal at the owner's request; $4 redemption fee of an animal picked up and $1.50 per day as the cost for care and feeding of animals impounded.)

The council unanimously approved the conversion of six city vehicles for a 60-day trial period to natural gas. Hawkins said, "This fuel method has passed the experimental stage and has proven efficient in many other cities--we should set a good example and start to use it here."

Harvey W. Stump, new owner of Holmer Business Service, will speak at the Ontario-Upland Christian Business Men's Breakfast meeting, 6:45 a.m., Tuesday, Aug. 28, at Brigham's Restaurant, Foothill and San Antonio, Upland, according to Walter Rieder, program chairman. Stump, along with his wife Lorraine purchased the Holmer Business Service, 209 S. Garden Club To Meet

The Pomona Valley Garden Club will hold its first formal meeting at the Pomona Public Library on Tuesday, Aug. 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the library's public conference room. The new club was formed in response to the program "Organic Gardening and the Food Crisis," which was presented at the library in July by Ray Hutton of Claremont, a long-time organic gardening enthusiast and an expert in nursery and landscape management. A special program has been planned by Ray Harrold of Pomona and will include advice on gardening techniques by Hutton and himself. The program is offered free of charge to all residents of the West End, Pomona and San Gabriel Valleys. According to Harrold, the club will provide a continuing forum for the exchange of information and techniques concerning organic gardening. Harrold has a large organic garden and believes that natural vitamins are important to good nutrition. "In a busy world it only takes a little while to have and maintain a small organic garden that doesn't have to be any bigger than the size of your bedroom," said Harrold.

Construction Underway On Shopping Center In Upland

Work crews have started construction of Phase I of the Upland & Country Shopping Center in Upland with a target completion time of shortly after the first of the year. When totally completed, the center will contain a 27,200 sq. ft. Vons Supermarket, a 25,500 sq. ft. Sav-On Drugstore and approximately 20 specialty shops. Already on the site is a Security Pacific Bank. Being built under Phase I is Vons, Sav-On and approximately 12 of the specialty shops. The other specialty shops will be built in Phase II later in 1974. General contractor on the project is one of the nation's most experienced shopping center builders, Ernest W. Hahn

Inc. of Hawthorne.

The center is being built on eight acres of land at Foothill Blvd. and Euclid Ave. The developers are Vons Grocery Co., Sav-On Drugs and Century Southwest Corp.

Project architects are Schell, Geritz, Paul & Allard Inc., of San Diego.

The design of the center calls for exterior walls of a padre-brown color and tile roofs in a copper green shade. There will be heavy use of stained woods in various shades of brown in the patio areas of the center and store fronts will be dark wood or bronze colored.

Parking is provided for 487 cars and landscaping is planned throughout.

Banking, Finance Courses Offered

Three courses keyed to a certificate in banking and finance will be fall quarter offerings at Chaffey College.

One of the courses, Human Relations in Business, is programmed for day and evening classes. The other two, Principles of Bank Operation and Analysis of Financial Statements, are slated for evening classes only.

The fall quarter begins Sept. 17, with registration on Sept. 5-6 and Sept. 12-13. Details on the banking and finance program may be obtained by calling the college at 987-1737 or 822-7456.

AT CHAFFEY COLLEGE

Aviation Program Announced

Chaffey College has now made it possible for a student to complete the program leading to the Federal Aviation Agency airframe and power-plant ratings within two years.

The aeronautics program has been compressed into 84 units of training for a diversity of jobs in commercial and general aviation, starting with the fall quarter, Sept. 17.

When originally set up, the program encompassed 90 units with a three-year spread.

The new streamlined arrangement allows a student to go for the FAA maintenance technician certificate in a matter of six college quarters, each requiring a 14-unit load.

The program comprises six 14-unit courses. The courses, strong on laboratory or shop instruction will be offered each quarter daily except weekends.

"Students soon find to their advantage that we go all out for one-to-one instruction," said Lloyd A. Aanstad, industrial-technical division chairman and one of the aeronautics faculty.

The two prerequisite courses to the remaining four are Aeronautics Basic Theory and Aeronautics Basic Science, both taught by Lawrence Johnson.

The advanced courses and instructors are Power Plant Theory and Maintenance and Power Systems and Components, Aanstad, and Airframe Structures and Airframe Systems and Components, Charles H. Stark.

The balance of the curriculum is geared to the needs of aircraft owners, pilots and maintenance specialists, starting with six units of Aircraft Theory two evenings weekly. Instruction is by staff.

The other courses in the sequence, three units each, are two tandem courses in Ground School for Pilot Training (Aero 583a and 583b) and Preventative Maintenance for Private Pilots.

The second phases of Ground School (Aero 583b) is scheduled in the fall quarter for either day or evening classes, meeting once a week. The rest of the courses are committed to once-a-week evening sessions only.

A feature of Chaffey College's over-all aeronautics program is practical work and fun with its fleet of two Cessna 150s, three helicopters and a sail plane.

The sail plane, a Navy glider trainer from World War II, was once the property of the Douglas Soaring Club based at El Mirage Airport.

A club member who was a Mexican national set the soaring record for his homeland when he flew the bird to an altitude of more than 20,000 feet. That record still stands, according to the aeronautics faculty.

After logging 2,000 hours, the old bird with the 55-foot wing span is being reconditioned as a class project, along with the conversion of one of the Cessnas into its complimentary tow plane.

The fun part of the Chaffey air fleet is its availability for use by the Chaffey College Flying Club of some 30 full-time students members. Membership is open to everyone regardless of major.

The club's flight program enables a student to qualify for the private pilot license at minimum expense. Through the college year, members go on field trips and participate in flying competition. Registration for the fall quarter is Sept. 5-6 and Sept. 12-13. Prior to registration, students must obtain admissions permits at the college.

Persons interested in aeronautics or other programs are asked to check with the admissions office for details. The telephone numbers are 987-1737 and 822-7456.

Real Estate Program Cut In Half

The Chaffey College real estate program will be concentrated into an 18-month instead of a three-year period, beginning with the fall quarter, Sept. 17.

The five core courses in the program leading to the real estate certificate including one of the optional courses have been changed from three- to four-unit offerings.

Nine real estate courses are scheduled for the fall quarter with registration on Sept. 5-6 and Sept. 12-13. Most of the courses are geared to class session off-campus as well as on, one evening weekly.

The core courses are Real Estate, Real Estate Finance and Real Estate Appraisal, all four units now.

During the transition, however, students who started with the "a" part of three of the core courses will have the opportunity to complete the "b" part.

These are Real Estate Practice (562b), Legal Aspects (563b) and Appraisal (565b), each worth three units under the old system.

Real Estate Economics, an optional course, has been changed from an offering of three units to four units.

Three other optional courses remain on the three-unit standard. These are Apartment Management, Escrow Procedures I and Escrow Procedures II. (Escrow Procedures II or RE 584b is being phased out in the fall quarter.)

Off-campus locations for many of the college's real estate class sessions are Chaffey High School, Chino High and Corona High.

For further information, call the college at 987-1737 or 822-7456.

Library Land Site Approved By Supervisors

Purchase of a five acre site adjacent to the Cucamonga-Alta Loma branch county library for construction of a new library was approved last week by the county Board of Supervisors.

The land is actually a gift from the Cucamonga District Lions Club. The club is asking the county pay only $12,000 to cover current property taxes and the elimination of a lien which is currently on the south side of Base Line Rd. west of Heilman Ave.

The supervisors also approved schematic drawings of the new building, which were drawn up by the architectural firm of Barmakian, Norman and Associates.

The action authorized the architects to continue with development of the preliminary design for the building.

UPLAND COLLEGE

A Dream That Once Was

More than 40 years, Upland was "on the map", so to speak, in educational circles because it had its own four-year college and qualified for listing in various directories of American Colleges and Universities. Not so today.

Newcomers to town are often curious about the empty cluster of stone buildings located at the corner of Arrow Highway and San Antonio Ave., which read "Administration" -- "Dining Hall" -- "Chapel" -- "Gymnasium" and so forth as buildings on other small college campuses frequently do.

On Tuesday, Oct. 25, 1965 an historical event took place in Upland -- the first public auction of a college in the United States was staged. The Western Division headquarters of the Salvation Army, which is located in San Francisco, were highest bidders and are the present owners of the vacant buildings of Upland College.

Ralph Good, 341 N. San Antonio Ave., Upland, has been caretaker of the college grounds since 1948. Good is now paid by the San Francisco office of the Salvation Army and has shown interested buyers around the campus since 1965 -- he heard the going price was $970,000 for 10.81 acres. Several different church schools have showed an interest in buying the property at different times -- however, so far nothing definite has been worked out. Good said a Bible school from New York was out to see the college recently.

A year ago Rev. Ray Batema, pastor of the Central Baptist Church of Pomona, said he'd received a form letter from the Salvation Army asking if the church would be interested in acquiring the property. Batema said other groups in the area had also been contacted as potential buyers. He said "if the price was right, we'd be interested." Batema was planning to run a Christian junior high and high school on the campus.

"I don't think they're anxious to sell, though," Batema said. It appears that the present owners of Upland College are holding out for a "right price" and are content to let the buildings remain abandoned for a time longer. Good said the Brethren in Christ Church used a few rooms for Sunday School and that occasionally a building was rented out to an organization for a special purpose, but that this was infrequent.

Since 1970 the West End Boys' Club has been headquartered in the Gymnasium of the former college. Mrs. Madeline Cappitelli, secretary of the Boys' Club, said "we're here on a rent free basis -- but its just day-to-day." She said the Boys Club could be asked to find a new location at anytime.

Upland College closed its doors for financial reasons in late July in '65 when it merged with Messiah College of Grantham, Pennsylvania. Both colleges were founded by the Brethren in Christ Church, the local one organized in '20 by the California Council of the church and named Beulah College. It opened its doors on Sept. 6, 1920 in the church basement located on the corner of "F" St. and Third Ave. In 1939 the school had grown to a four-year college and had moved to the old San Antonio Hospital building on San Antonio and Arrow. Bishop C. C. Burkholder was the college's first president. In 1949, the name was changed to Upland College and it was known as a teacher's college.

The administration building and a two-story girls' dorm and originally served as San Antonio Community Hospital and its nurses' home. The hospital moved to its present location in Aug. '24. For a while the college buildings were also used as a kind of rest home called according to various memories -- Alpine Resort or Paradise Resort.

When Upland College purchased the site, additional acreage was added to the west and south. The boys' dorm -- "Sierra Vista" -- was built in 1946. Following World War II, the gymnasium and chapel were moved from March Field, where they had served the same purpose, and were remodeled for the campus. Other college buildings, also added in the late 1940's, include the industrial arts shop to the south, and education building, a dining room and kitchen.

Upland College graduated its first 4-year class in June 1940. It was a liberal arts college fully accredited with the Western College Association and the state board of education.

When the college closed in 1965 its faculty, administration and 200 students scattered. When advertised at the auction it potential future uses were listed as: private school, research and development facility or a senior citizens' home.

EMPTY BUILDINGS -- Just a shell of "what-used-to-be" the Administration Building of Upland College and the other buildings on campus remain empty as they have since the school closed its doors in July 1965. The former college is located on the corner of Arrow Highway and San Antonio Ave.

Council Approves Warehouse

The City Council Monday unanimously approved a CUP for a storage warehouse operation located between 7th St. and the San Bernardino Freeway.

In other action, the Council: --Unanimously approved a CUP to establish a Planned Residential Development north of Red Hill Country Club. A zone change allowing this was approved on the second reading.

--Unanimously approved a request by Mark III Homes for a zone change from A-1 to R-1-D on 4 lots located on the south side of 16th St. with its west line 420 feet east of Benson Ave. and one lot located on the north side of 15th St. with its east line located 740 feet west of Mountain Ave.

--Unanimously approved on the second reading, an ordinance to amend the Upland Municipal Code re: Off/Street Parking requirements in a PUC zone and another regulating the use of automatic dialing and taped message burglar and fire alarm systems.

--Authorized funds for an appraisal of right-of-way acquisition at Arrow Highway and Third Ave.

--Continued until next meeting a tentative tract map for Matreyek Homes, Inc. so the Planning Commission could arrange another lot. Location is 12 lots on the north side of 21st St. east of San Antonio Ave.

--Took no action on a request by Arnold Christen for a tentative parcel map for 3 parcels on the east side of Euclid Ave. south of 20th St. in the right-of-way of the proposed Foothill Freeway.

Revenue Sharing Funds Spent

A museum and the county jail are major subjects of expenditures of San Bernardino County's first three allocations of federal revenue sharing money.

The county has issued a report on the use of $12.4 million in revenue sharing money received in the 1972-73 fiscal year.

The biggest outlays were $1.4 million to build a museum in Redlands and $962,000 for a lease payment on the construction of the county jail and juvenile hall.

But more than three fourths of the money which was received remained unspent at the end of the fiscal year.

A county spokesman said, most of this remaining $9.5 million has been budgeted this fiscal year for a variety of capital improvement projects.

The report says a major property tax increase was prevented and a debt increase was avoided due to the availability of the revenue sharing funds.

Besides the museum and jail outlays, the major expenditures in the report are:

--$137,350 for construction and $17,400 for land acquisition of county offices in Chino.

--$116,000 for land acquisition of a refuse disposal site.

--$91,900 for land acquisition and $36,800 for construction of county offices in the mountain area of the county.

--$60,000 for demolishing the jail cells on the fourth floor of the county courthouse and replacing them with offices.

--$59,000 for a consulting firm study of the county's future office space needs.

--$29,600 for construction of a library in Cucamonga.

--$28,500 for construction of a county branch building in Victorville.

Cities In West End Get Share Of Tax Monies

San Bernardino County has received $800,000 in sales and use tax funds from the state, according to the State Board of Equalization.

In addition, four West End cities received a total of $445,000 in tax funds received by the board.

Ontario received $160,000; Montclair, $120,000; Upland, $61,000; Fontana, $63,500, and Chino, $40,500.

The funds received by the county include $410,000 from the one-fourth percent local sales and use tax for the county local transportation fund.

On a statewide basis, the tax board said that more than $77.6 million was distributed to cities and counties. This represents the third advance payment to cities and counties of funds received from business taxpayers for the second quarter of 1973, the board said.

Haven Will Be Widened

Work is under way to widen to four lanes a 2 1/2-mile stretch of Haven Ave. from Arrow Route to 19th St. in Alta Loma, according to the San Bernardino County Road Department.

Road construction on the $471,161 project is due to be completed in September, and the installation of two new signals and the modification of a third will be completed early next year, according to project engineer Ron Roberts.

Roberts said new signals will be installed at the intersections of Arrow Route and Baseline Ave. He said the signal at Foothill Blvd. will be modified to handle the new lanes.

The north and southbound lanes will be divided, Roberts said. He said the contractor for the project, which is being paid for with county funds, is D & D Paving of Glendora.

Roberts said plans are also under way to widen the remaining 1 1/2 miles of Haven Ave. to four lanes.

Community History

About this time 20 years ago, Uplanders were feeling the heat ... not unlike the situation that exists today. In 1953 Bill Marquardt, manager of Safeway Market, called for an outdoor public swimming pool to be built in Upland's Memorial Park. Marquardt suggested it be built with volunteer contributions.

Dog owner Mrs. Robert Ring of Upland keeps her dogs behind a fence or tied up and she believes that other dog owners should do likewise.

Other suggestions are: a shooting range for sportsmen in Upland -- Jack Isom sees a real opportunity for Upland to provide a shooting range for use by all officers in the district and by all interested citizens.

Headlines read: "Mt. View Citrus House Sold to Local Group"

Mt. View Fruit Association buildings on Stowell St. between 2nd and 3rd Aves. were purchased by the Euclid Ave. Orange Association. The building is to be converted into a packing plant for handling of lemons. At present only oranges are processed in the Euclid Ave. house which was acquired for lemon packing.

C. I. Cartwright is head of the local group and also manager of a large cooperative lemon association in La Verne. The La Verne house capacity has been reached and since some local lemon acreage is served by the La Verne house it's likely the local fruit will be diverted to the new lemon operation. Built in 1937, the major building in the Mt. View plant is 140 feet by 186 feet. Included in the purchase also are two warehouses with total floor space of 16,000 square feet plus office building.

Mrs. Jack Caraveau and son Derek Neal anxiously await word from Caraveau who is a Prisoner of War in Korea -- his name was not included among freed Americans.

Upland Young Taxpayers Association called a public meeting to solicit group action to consider the city's master zoning plan and proposed ordinances. School budgets are also being criticized by the new association. "It is pointed out that not only city and other local affairs are subject to study and action by the group, but also that all types of matters of concern to taxpayers are eligible.

Upland's Citrus industry was the subject for a movie recently. Sunkist Growers Inc. filmed the documentary of Upland packing houses. "Many Uplanders employed in the groves and packing houses will be the real-life stars of the movie which will present the actual people in the citrus industry at work without actors or props."

Sunkist is to use the documentary as an educational film. Schools and other organizations or groups may use the film.

In a page one feature on the Upland Public Library it was noted that the library loans 200 books each day to the public. Miss Lucile McDonald heads the staff of three assistant librarians and two assistants which maintains the more than 34,711 books in the local library.

Introducing Hilda Kirkeby of Malibu Publishing House

Mr. Business Man ... Did You Know ...

The Upland Chamber of Commerce is pleased to announce that the Malibu Publishing House has been retained to develop a new directory and street guide for Upland, Cucamonga, Alta Loma and Etiwanda. This fine directory will not only tell the story of our communities, but will provide an up-to-date listing of all our area retail businesses. In this way, the homeowner will be provided with one reference source for shopping and community information.

Advertising in this directory will reach the potential buyer in 20,000 homes and will remain there for a period of 2 years to be seen and read many times. PLUS ... when you compare the cost of an ad to the cost of just one mailing to 20,000 residents ... you will find the prices are a bargain.

As time and space are limited and to be assured of preferred placement, a prompt call to Hilda Kirkeby at 982-8816 will be appreciated.

San Bernardino County Buys Aerospace Buildings

In a move designed to reduce crowded conditions in County offices and acquire additional facilities at a major savings to property taxpayers, the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors has acted unanimously to purchase the vacant Aerospace buildings at the southwest corner of Tippecanoe Ave. and Mill St. in San Bernardino.

The County will acquire the 78-acre, three-building complex for $4 million and will use Federal Revenue Sharing Funds, rather than property tax revenue, to finance the purchase.

During the public hearing, a representative of VTN, the consulting firm currently studying the County's need for facilities, testified that the County has immediate and pressing need for an additional 126,172 square feet in San Bernardino and that this figure will increase to 287,495 by 1980.

The Aerospace buildings will provide a total of 177,363 square feet.

VTN estimated that to construct such a facility would cost $12.9 million and that equivalent space would lease for $817,000 per year.

Based on the VTN figures, it will cost the County less to buy the Aerospace buildings than to rent similar facilities for five years and if bonds were used to finance construction the total cost for building and interest would exceed $24 million or an additional 15 cents on the property tax rate for 20 years.

Estimates of taxpayer savings resulting from the $4 million purchase of the Aerospace buildings ranged from $8 million upwards to more than $20 million.

Again last week, we compared food prices with the major supermarkets in this area.

"Specials", "total discount", and most other kinds of prices were compared. In this survey of August 10 to 12, Mayfair's overall food prices were lower than four other top supermarket chains.

To try to be fair, the comparisons were again with Uncle Sam's list, the same full list of items that the U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics, uses every month to measure food prices as part of the cost of living.

These comparisons show you could have saved from $.13 to $.42 on the some $40 to $50 worth of basic foods in this list.

With the high cost of living these days, really, can you afford not to buy your food at Mayfair?

Ayala Hits Brown For SCAG Role

West End County Supervisor Ruben Ayala Monday blasted Rep. George Brown's support of a state Assembly bill which would make membership in the Southern California Association of Governments (SCAG) mandatory.

Ayala released a letter from Brown calling for support of the bill and a second letter he sent back to Brown last week.

"Your letter is somewhat confusing and inconsistent in that you support the Gonsalves bill, which makes SCAG a mandatory membership organization, and, at the same time, you expound on your backing of home rule."

"You can't have both," said Ayala.

"You can't have both," Ayala stated in his letter. "Super governmental structures can and do take away local control."

Brown called for support of the SCAG bill, citing major regional problems such as air pollution, land use, transportation and energy.

"If there is not a central organization, such as SCAG, then there will be established single purpose agencies which will do some of the same things," Brown wrote.

"These single purpose agencies may not have any elected officials, and therefore be quite unresponsive," Brown stated. "They may also tend to aggravate one problem in the process of solving the problem for which they were established."

Ayala criticized Brown's stand, saying "I am personally very vocal in support of home rule and strongly oppose any effort to erode such a system, as does the Gonsalves bill which you support."

"We believe that an inland regional governmental structure composed of the counties of San Bernardino, Riverside, Mono, Inyo and Imperial have many more commonly shared problems to resolve than does SCAG with its current boundaries," Ayala said.

SCAG includes Ventura, Los Angeles, Orange, San Bernardino, Riverside and Imperial counties.

"Problems that transcend counties, such as smog, rapid transit, flood control and others can be handled by a joint powers authority between SCAG and a proposed inland regional governmental organization," Ayala said.

City Rejects Newsletter Idea

Wary of possible political uses to which the Upland Homeowners Association newsletter might be put, the City Council Monday night voted down a measure to give the UHA $1,000 in city funds to finance the publication.

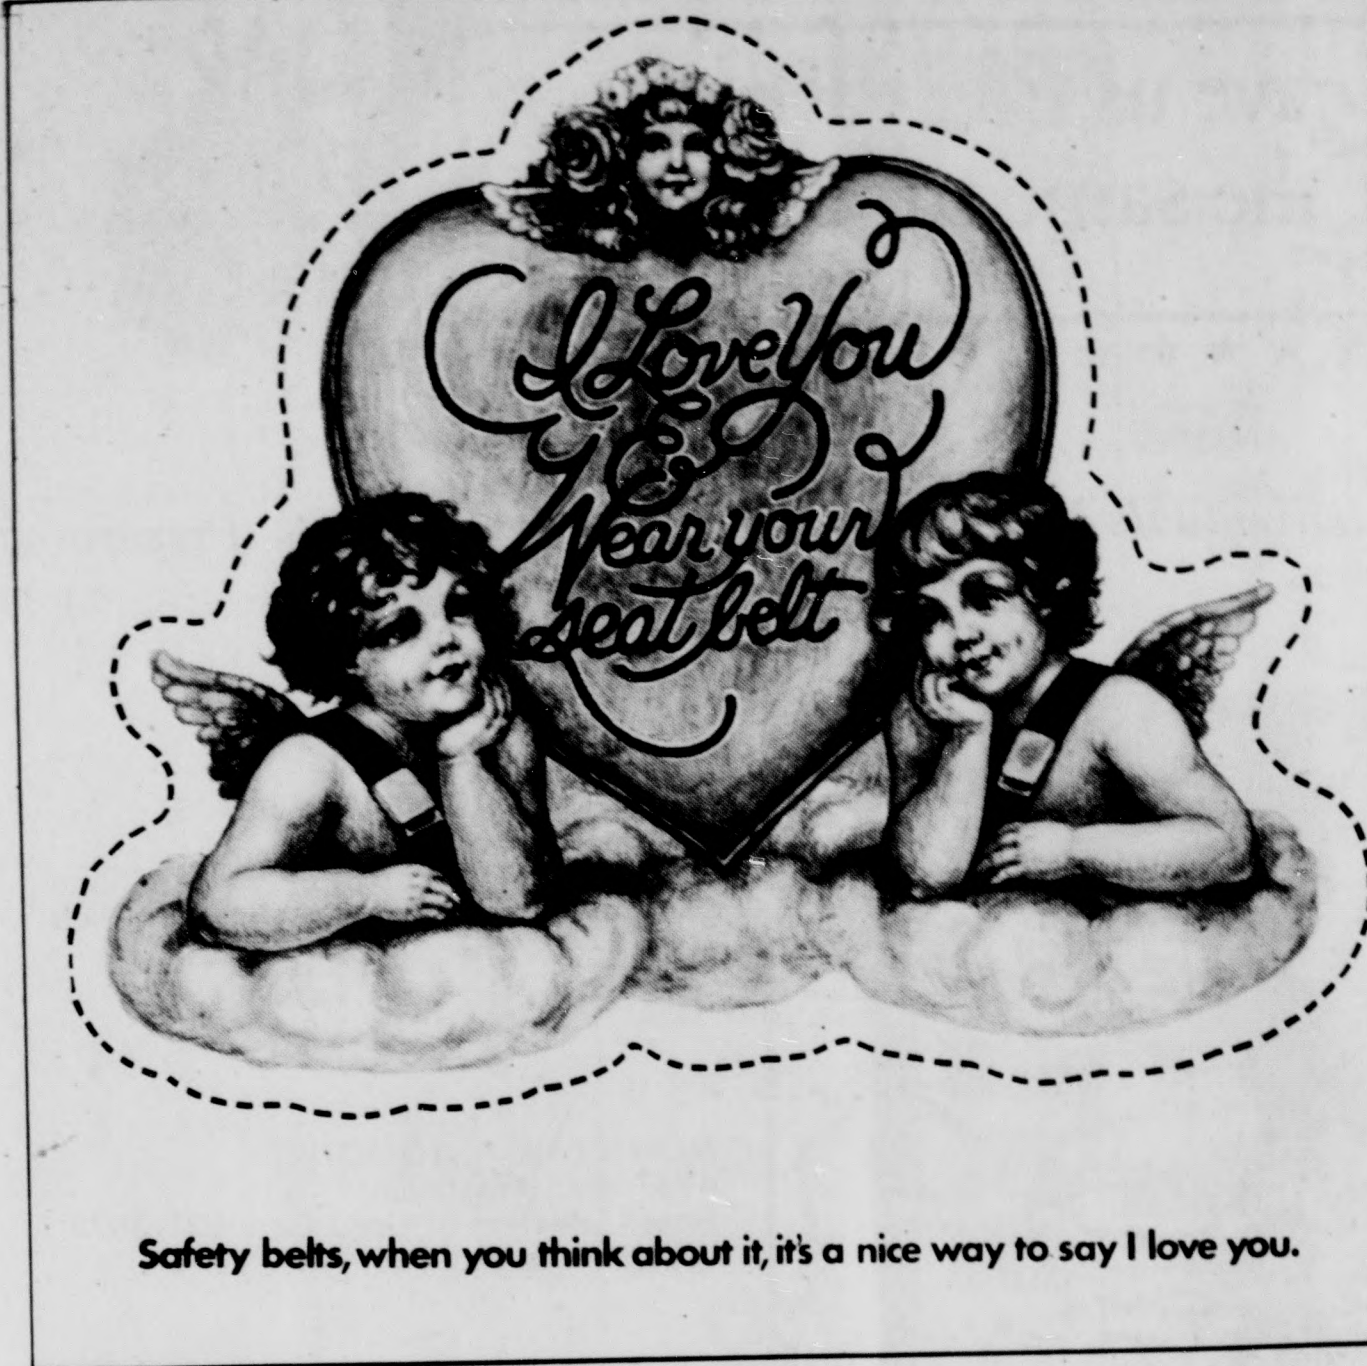

Echoing his previous stand, taken when the council voted in early June to allocate the money provided a proper budget was submitted, Councilman Harold Ballin vigorously opposed "using taxpayers' money to distribute their (the UHA's) point of view."

He reminded the council members that they had turned down funding of a city newsletter because it might turn into a propaganda sheet. He felt that funding of the UHA newsletter might result in the city inadvertently contributing money to a political party or organization.

Councilman George Gibson, a strong supporter of the allocation, felt that the city's support of other groups having their own particular self-interests and political interests "make a case" for supporting the UHA.

How to dream with your eyes wide open.

Everybody likes to dream. But the chances of seeing a dream become reality are pretty slim. Unless you're crafty enough to figure out a smart way to save. One that's practical and painless. One that won't eat up your paycheck but will still give you a chance to salt something away.

If you're smart, you'll decide on U.S. Savings Bonds. They're one of the easiest ways to save. Just sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Then an amount you specify will be automatically set aside from your paycheck and used to buy Bonds.

So, if you're not satisfied with just dreaming, buy U.S. Savings Bonds. Then you'll find out there's no such thing as an impossible dream.

Now E Bonds pay 5 1/2% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months, 4 days, the first year. Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Strength of a Nation

There are many today who believe that love of a country is at odds with the concept of concern for mankind; that patriotism involves undue regard for military might, governmental power and national pride. Those who so believe have failed to grasp the essence of patriotism.

The four great Americans whose faces are chiseled in solid granite at Mt. Rushmore can best remind all of us — the True Strength of belief in this nation.

The true patriot is not blind to his country's failures and shortcomings. He is aware of them and regrets them. Nevertheless, he knows that the answer to these difficulties lies not in abandoning or attacking his country, but in utilizing the means of self-correction afforded him and every citizen by its Constitution.

Here's What's New In Dwarf Plants

101 Ways To Feature Ivy In Your Garden And Home

Summer is a time when many a Californian is interested in creating a mini-garden near the outdoor living area, or desires to change the appearance of the existing landscape -- without making it a major undertaking. There are several new, or recently-introduced shrubs which have special characteristics, that are unique and desirable, and which will add a refreshing touch to their surroundings. These are dwarf or compact forms of popular landscape specimens. With little effort, really, you can enhance the appearance and beauty of the garden. Just by planting the shrubs.

For starters, the time-honored Pittosporum tobira, called Mock Orange, is a reliable standby in California. Its heavy branching habit qualifies it as an outstanding evergreen foundation shrub. Now, the Wheeler's Dwarf from the original is gaining favor throughout the state. It is a very compact shrub with glossy, dark green foliage. Feature it in the border, or use the plant as a hedge; place it in the foreground of a landscape planting and you'll quickly see why this newer arrival on the gardening scene is stealing the show.

The versatile, medium-size Xylosma, with graceful arching branches, is another California landscape favorite. Many nurseries now offer a compact variety. It has the same shiny, bright green foliage, but is more compact in growth, with a tighter branching habit. Adding this easy-to-grow performer to the foundation planting, or at the far reaches of the garden, will certainly add interest.

California is noted for the many micro-climates which exist throughout the length and width of the state. In the hot interior valleys, the newer Dwarf Grape Myrtles -- in all the bright shades as well as lavender hues and white -- are a source of refreshing summertime color. Coastal gardeners enjoy the floral beauty of Escallonia; the new Pink Princess is a three-foot foundation shrub that will provide months of continuous bloom in cooler climates.

Its low-growing nature adds to its landscape value.

Dwarf Pyracantha may not be a brand new concept, but the presence of such red-berried dandies as Tiny Tim, Red Elf and Minnie Mound, in a container, on the patio -- or foundation or border situation, is sure to provide focal interest.

AN INSTANT LAWN

Many Californians are taking to sodding, to create an instant lawn. With sod it's possible to have a carpet of green surrounding your home -- in a matter of hours. Too, repairing, or re-planting an existing lawn is simple with sod.

Turf sod comes in strips of weed-free, commercially grown grass, ready to instand plant. Many nurseries have a supply of sod in stock, or are able to arrange for delivery of whatever amount you need.

Sodding does not eliminate the necessity of soil preparation for a lawn. Remember, the roots are contained within the two or three inch-thick strips of sod, and they will almost immediately begin penetrating into the soil. Soil preparation is important, as are other considerations. Here are some of the steps involved:

First, after rocks, weeds and debris are removed from the area to be sodded, loosen the soil -- a rented rototiller is most practical -- and mix in peat moss, redwood compost, or other recommended organic material.

Then, rake the area smooth and even -- leveling as you go. The soil surface should be an inch below cement walkways, patio slabs, the driveway and sprinkler heads, to accommodate the thickness of the sod.

Ask your nurseryman to recommend a chemical fertilizer and apply, or scatter it, over the entire area to be planted.

Friends are often taken for granted. Many plants are taken for granted, too. Not many people stop to think just what it would be like without them.

Members of the Ivy family are often in this situation. There's distinctive beauty, to be sure, but nothing flashy. Though many recent introductions of this foliage favorite have thrilled gardeners who discover them, there hasn't been much fanfare accorded their arrival on the gardening scene. Yet, Californians find 101 ways to feature Ivy in their homes and garden.

Few Californians are unaware that Ivy is used extensively as a ground cover on slopes and as a lawn substitute. Many people grew up, watching Ivy climb up a tree trunk. Or, had the chance to train Ivy against the house or a garage wall. A familiar neighborhood sight is Ivy rambling over a fence or cascading over a garden wall. Likewise, Ivy, as a hanging basket plant, was and still is a standard feature in many California homes -- displayed on the porch or patio.

Today's interest in plants suitable for growing indoors hasn't escaped the Ivy family.

If you haven't shopped for Ivy lately, the California Association of Nurserymen points out there are delightful and distinctive varieties available for indoor use, and for landscape purposes in the garden. Now is a good time to become acquainted with plants whose easy-to-grow nature and versatility have been taken for granted.

WORLD OF ART

Islamic Collection Acquired

One of the finest private collections of Islamic art in the world has been acquired for the Los Angeles County Museum of Art by Mrs. Joan Palevsky, it was announced by Dr. Franklin D. Murphy, president of the Museum's Board of Trustees.

The collection of approximately 650 objects is one of the most comprehensive in the United States. Mrs. Palevsky's gift makes Los Angeles a major study center for Islamic art, according to Dr. Murphy. The collection covers the entire range of Islamic art produced between 700 and 1900 A.D. in an area bounded by Turkey and Afghanistan.

The Islamic paintings, pottery, and textiles were gathered by the late Nasir Heeramanek during a 40-year period in which he became America's foremost dealer and collector of Indian and Asian art. Mr. Heeramanek died in 1971 at the age of 70. It has been estimated a comparable Islamic collection today would cost $1 million.

"Islam has been the fountainhead that inspired one of three major civilizations in Asia. This gift makes it possible to develop a better understanding of Asians in addition to enjoying this artistic tradition," said Dr. Murphy.

Islamic art is not so much the product of a particular country or people as it is the outgrowth of a widespread civilization. Originally a religion, Islam extended its influence over half the known world from China to Spain in the 7th and 8th centuries. The traditions of Arabia, Persia and Turkey formed the major threads of Islamic art.

"I hope that these beautiful objects will give the same pleasure to budding artists and scholars that I experienced as a youngster in Los Angeles in the 1930s when I regularly took the old 'V' streetcar to the Museum at Exposition Park," said Mrs. Palevsky. "It is there that I learned to love art and acquired a sense of the past. I have since visited and re-visited many of the great museums of the world. I have had hours of pleasure in frequent visits to our own Museum here in Los Angeles. I have enjoyed the gifts made by others, and now I have made mine."

Mrs. Palevsky, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, was a language instructor at UCLA for several years. She is actively interested in cultural and educational affairs, serving on the Board of Immaculate Heart College, Southern California Symphony-Hollywood Bowl Association, Los Angeles Chamber Music Society and the Los Angeles County Museum of Art. A resident of West Los Angeles, Mrs. Palevsky is a book collector as well as an art collector.

The Islamic collection will become part of the Indian and Islamic Department headed by Dr. Pratapaditya Pal. A major exhibition and an extensive catalog of this material is being prepared by Dr. Pal for this December. All members of the Museum will receive a copy of the catalog as a membership benefit.

Dairy Farmers Getting Milked By Higher Costs

California's dairy industry is the second largest dollar producer in the state's agricultural system.

But, dairy farmers face the toughest time in their history because income from milk hasn't kept pace with skyrocketing costs. Many farmers are cutting back on production; others are simply quitting business and selling their farms.

On the basis of dollar volume alone, the dairy industry needs saving. More important, though, what will happen if our number one source of nutrition dries up?

"If you think your food bill for a family of four has gone up, you should see mine for a family of 500."

So said one of California's dairy farmers when asked about the recent 3¢ per half-gallon increase in the price of milk.

Feed for the farmer's cows accounts for over one-half his production costs, and feed costs have risen out-of-sight -- double or more in recent months for some high-protein feeds. Add this to the same economic crunch experienced by urban businessmen -- increased labor costs, taxes, environmental pressures -- and the farmer finds himself in real trouble.

What does all this mean to the millions of California milk drinkers? A further price hike, and a milk shortage come fall, are real possibilities.

Rather than solving the farmer's immediate problems, however, the price increase will only serve as a temporary stop-gap measure. With costs likely to continue on the upswing, dairy men will have little choice but to continue cutting back on unprofitable production. In fact, while milk consumption in California has increased, total production in the first five months of 1973 declined slightly.

Even with a further increase of a penny or two per quart, Californians will be paying less than milk drinkers in most other states. And, milk prices have remained substantially behind other food and non-food prices. If milk prices had kept pace with wage and cost-of-living increases in recent years, we would now be paying more than $1.00 per half-gallon.

Translating milk prices into pounds, milk now costs about 15¢ per pound. Compared with the per-pound cost of most other foods, milk continues to be one of the best nutritional values on the grocer's shelf -- and is likely to remain so.

Shrimp, Beer Great Go-Togethers

There's gamberi and beer, langostinos and beer, kaeng and beer, Ko-ebi and beer. No matter the language in which it's said, it's shrimp and beer and they're great go-togethers -- anytime, any place.

Summer seems to be an exceptionally appropriate season for this classic combination. Whether you're with the gang at the beach or simply in your own backyard, a rosy heaping platter of cold boiled shrimp placed on the table is always welcome.

The full flavor of the shrimp is brought out when simmered in the savory brew, imparting to the fish that very special seasoning. Beer has a three-fold purpose in this recipe -- the shrimp cooked in beer, dipped in beer and served with beer.

SHRIMP DUNK/USA

16 oz. beer
2 small onions, sliced
1 clove garlic
1 bay leaf
3 whole peppercorns
2 celery stalks
1 1/2 tbsp. salt
1/2 lemon
2 lbs. raw shrimp
Pour beer in large pan and add onion slices, garlic, bay leaf, peppercorns, celery and salt. Bring to a boil and simmer for 10 minutes. Cut lemon half into four pieces and add. Rinse shrimp well and add. Simmer 12 minutes more. Remove from heat, let cool and drain. Peel off shells and chill well. Serve with a dunking bowl of ice cold beer.

SHRIMP IN BEER

12 oz. beer
Pinch rosemary

Pinch tarragon
Dash salt
1 lb. fresh or frozen shelled and deveined shrimp.
Pour beer into large pan; add seasonings and shrimp. Place over low heat and bring to a simmer. Simmer just until shrimp turn pink, about 2-3 minutes. Remove shrimp from broth and cook separately. Return cooled shrimp to beer broth and chill in refrigerator for several hours. At serving time, drain shrimp well and serve with a dunking bowl of ice cold beer.

Let Color Be Your Guide To Vitamin A

Vitamin A is in short supply in at least 50 percent of U.S. households, according to University of California Home Advisor Sharon Higgins.

Shoppers can let color be their guide to buying foods with vitamin A. Carotenes are used by the body to make vitamin A and carotenes are yellow or yellow-orange in color. Orange foods such as carrots, squash, butter, egg yolks, and cheese are obvious vitamin A rich foods, says Mrs. Higgins.

Since vitamin A is stored by the body, one serving of liver provides enough vitamin A to allow a person to consume only half his daily requirements for two weeks, says Mrs. Higgins.

Be In The 'In' Crowd Of Bakers

Add a new section to your home baking files entitled Nutritious Breads and begin by trying this nutritious-packed yeast bread, Wheat Germ Yogurt Braid. There are many reasons why Wheat Germ Yogurt Braid would be a great first in your new section. Aside from its exciting braided design, it also contains more nutrients than most breads because non-fat dry milk solids, yogurt, honey and wheat germ are added. Since it is better to obtain nutrients the natural way by our food intake, it is important to eat the most nutritious breads and other food groups daily.

This loaf would be a great bread to begin the day. With this nutritious start towards a better diet,

WHEAT GERM YOGURT BRAID

8 to 9 cups unsifted flour

3/4 cup instant nonfat dry milk solids
5 teaspoons salt
1 package Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
2 3/4 cups water
1 cup yogurt
1/4 cup honey
2 tablespoons margarine
1 cup wheat germ
1 egg, beaten
In a large bowl thoroughly mix 3 1/2 cups flour, dry milk, salt and undissolved yeast.
Combine water, yogurt, honey and margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquids are very warm (120 to 130 degrees F.). Margarine does not need to melt. Gradually add dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add 1 cup flour. Beat a high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in 1 cup wheat germ and enough additional flour to make a stiff dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down; divide in half. Divide each half into 3 equal pieces. Shape each into a 16-inch rope. Braid 3 ropes together; pinch ends to seal. Place on greased baking sheet. Repeat with remaining ropes. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Brush with beaten egg and sprinkle with wheat germ. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 35 minutes or until done.

Remove from baking sheets and cook on wire racks. Makes 2 loaves.

Slurp The Yogurt And Culture Your Diet

It's anyone's guess why yogurt, a cultured milk product, would become so popular that it now boasts its very own refrigerated case in many supermarkets.

YOGURT STROGANOFF

1 1/2 lbs. lean beef stew
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper

2 tablespoons butter
1 (2-oz.) can mushroom stems and pieces
1 1/2 c. sliced onions
1 c. water
3 tablespoons catsup
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1/2 pint plain yogurt
Cut beef into 1-inch cubes. Roll beef in flour mixed with salt and pepper. Brown beef in butter a few pieces at a time over medium high heat. Return all beef to skillet, add liquid drained from mushrooms, onions, water, catsup, Worcestershire sauce and garlic powder. Do not stir but cover and bring to boil. Reduce heat and simmer, stirring occasionally about 1 hour, or until tender and sauce is thickened. Just before serving, stir yogurt until smooth and add along with mushrooms to beef. Heat 1 or 2 minutes. Serve over buttered poppy seed noodles or rice.

Makes 4 servings.
Note: Buttermilk may be used in place of yogurt.
